Operation 'Buried Alive'

Due to the shortage of magazine storage space, the Army is burying large quantities of live bombs to preserve them. It is estimated that 200,000 tons of ammunition will be thus preserved. Above, workmen at Savanna, Ill., Ordnance Depot stack bombs prior to burial.

Dixon, Oregon and Mount Morris Vote To Up School Levy

Oregon Voters Approve Bonds for Water System and New Sewer

An increase in educational fund tax rates calculated to give school district No 170 an additional $114,913 in revenue annually was voted here yesterday by a nine-to-one majority.

The vote favored, 972 to 81, the proposed increase in the educational fund rate from 69 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 95 cents. The increase is expected to raise the educational fund revenue from $311,52 5to $426,438.

The building fund tax rate boost from 13 cents to 30 cents was approved by a 930 to 89 count.

Oregon Votes Boost

In similar referendums, voters in Oregon and Mt. Morris also favored tax rate increases, the proposals carrying with comfortable margins in both instances.

Oregon voters approved by a vote of 252 to 66 the proposed increase in the educational fund tax rate from 33 to 51 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The tax rate increase is expected to provide an added $12,000 in revenue next year there, shoving the educational fund budget up to $62,000.

Authorities had disclosed that the school was operating under a $12.000 deficit, and would have been forced to reduce instruction in some classes if the referendum had failed to carry.

Mt. Morris Biggest Vote

In Mt. Morris, the referendum to boost the school tax from 33 to 55 cents per $100 assessed valuation passed by a vote of 489 to 55 in what was described there as the largest vote recorded in a high school election in Mt. Morris.

School officials there had also warned that the school would be unable to continue throughout the present year with its full class schedule if the referendum failed to carry.

Oregon voters also approved a

Admirer of Dead Dice Girl Sought

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—A mysterious admirer of Mrs. Catherine Tina Jacobs was being sought by police today for questioning in connection with investigation of the death of the 19-year-old saloon dice girl.

Mrs. Jacobs disappeared Sept. 8. Her body was found ten days later near Benton Harbor, Mich. Authorities here and in Michigan were awaiting results of a post mortem examination to determine the cause of death.

Lt. Leroy Steffens of the homicide detail said the woman's husband, Marshall "Motzie" Jacobs, 21-year-old bartender, told him he believed the last person to have been with his wife was a prosperous automobile dealer and boat owner whom Jacobs knew only as "Frank."

Jacobs said the man had dated Mrs. Jacobs frequently but had not telephoned for her since her disappearance. Steffens said he believed the woman was "mixed up" with a vice ring.

The lieutenant said further questioning of Jacobs was planned and other persons mentioned by the husband in previous talks with police would be sought in an effort to solve the mystery.

Seized Nazi Gold to Be Distributed to Nations in Need

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—An allied big three commission has agreed to make a prompt distribution of part of a $330,000 000 gold store seized during the war from the Germans as a means of helping meet critical financial needs of European countries.

Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett said today that representatives of the United States, Britain and France, forming a "gold pot" commission, agreed to restore the gold to those countries from which it was looted by the nazis.

Lovett told a news conference that only about half of the gold pot can be distributed immediately. In answer to a question, Lovett said he believes use of the gold will not eliminate the need for stop-gap emergency aid for western Europe from the United States.

But, he added, it will be a substantial help and might help to ease France over its present financial difficulties.

French Need Help Now

In Paris, French leaders were reported to have told Secretary of the Treasury Snyder that France will face a financial crisis within a few weeks unless help is forthcoming and that any aid under the Marshall plan would be too late.

Lovett said the United States urged a preliminary distribution of the gold not later than Oct. 15 and the commission has agreed to try to meet this deadline.

Of the nazi-looted gold, about $260,000.000 worth has been recovered by American forces in Germany and about $70.000,000 worth recovered from other countries.

Eleven countries have filed claims to the money, totalling nearly $800,000.000, and Lovett explained about half the amount now in hand will have to be withheld to meet claims.

Aside from France the claimants include Albania, Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Congress' Leaders Asked to Discuss Food With Truman

Invited to White House Monday; Price Situation Little Changed

Seattle, Sept. 24—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) disclosed today that President Truman has invited congressional leaders to meet with him in Washington next Monday to discuss the world food problems.

Taft, who heads the senate's Republican policy committee, told a news conference he would be unable to attend but had discussed the proposed meeting with Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, president of the senate.

The Ohio senator said it was his understanding that Mr. Truman desires to discuss with both the Republican and Democratic congressional leaders the world food situation as it relates to proposed exports under the Marshall plan of aiding Europe. He said so far as he knows the discussion will involve only incidentally the high cost of food at home.

Taft said he had told Vandenberg over long distance telephone to Grand Rapids, Mich., where the Michigan senator is resting, that it was his idea Republicans should listen to any proposals Truman may make without committing themselves until later.

Investigations Continue

A congressional subcommittee investigating high living costs asserted today that speculation was "supporting food prices at unjustifiable levels" and called on President Truman to "use every means" to restrain it.

The committee, meeting in New

Alleged Gamblers Fired by Ford Co.

Detroit, Sept. 24—(AP)—Wayne County Prosecutor James N. McNally urged Detroit industry to purge itself of gambling employes today after the Ford Motor Co. dismissed 19 workers, including three foremen.

Ford accused the men of acting as pickups and collectors for horse race and numbers syndicates doing a $15,000 a day business within its big Rouge plant.

Union spokesmen, who did not protest the firings, predicted additional dismissals.

A Ford official said the investigation at the Rouge plant began a year ago after wives of some workers complained their husbands were gambling away money and bringing home short pay envelopes.

Has Funeral of Wife Held Up So He Can Attend Rites with Bride

Sacramento, Calif., Sept. 24—(AP)—Radio disc jockey Frank Nicholson says he and his third wife had agreed last week to a divorce and when she died Friday evening, he and heiress Ann Cooper Hewitt "got married so quickly it would make your head swim."

Nicholson—"Rodeo Roy" to his radio fans—took Ann to Mrs. Nicholson's funeral at Sacramento late yesterday. At Nicholson's request the ceremony was held up a few minutes because the bridal couple were a little late driving up from San Francisco.

Nicholson and the 33-year-old Ann, the "sterilized heiress" who charged her mother and two doctors in 1936 with "tricking" her into an operation to deprive her of motherhood, were married late Saturday.

Less than 24 hours earlier Nicholson's wife, Gertrude, 37, died from what was diagnosed in a coroner's preliminary report as an overdose 200 grains of a headache remedy.

Ann, who was divorced last Wednesday in Reno by John Whitaker, Nevada mining man, told reporters at an impromptu press conference that she and Nicholson had planned to marry as soon as they could.

Mrs. Nicholson knew of her romance with "Rodeo Roy," she went on, and "we all agreed that I would marry Frank as soon as she withdrew from the scene. Well, she withdrew."

Storm Moving Into Carolinas; Georgia Coast Rain-Soaked

Little Other Damage is Reported; Weather Conditions Elsewhere

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 24—(AP)—A tropical storm, three days out of the Caribbean sea, moved northward through Georgia into the Carolinas today leaving streets of coastal cities flooded from torrential rains but otherwise causing no appreciable damage.

The center of the storm passed west of Savannah about 5 a. m., the highest wind velocity recorded here was 45 miles an hour last night between 9 and 10 o'clock.

A total of 4.58 inches of rain fell in Savannah in the 24-hour period ending this morning.

Small craft were cautioned against danger along the Atlantic coast as far north as Chesapeake Bay and Delaware breakwater.

The disturbance was the second in a week to strike Florida. After curving into the west coast from the Caribbean south of Cuba, it stalled off Tampa in the Gulf of Mexico most of yesterday before swerving inland.

First reports from cities and towns in the storm's path indicated there had been no deaths and damage to property would not be great. Some highways were under water and trees were blown down but the heavy loss inflicted by last week's hurricane was not expected.

TODAY'S WEATHER STORY
(By The Associated Press)

A new mass of cool air from Saskatchewan moved into North Dakota and Minnesota today, sending temperatures below freezing, and threatened to spread over the north central region with frost in some sections predicted tonight.

Temperatures today were moderate between the Appalachians and the Rockies, while cool weather continued in the Atlantic states after yesterday's readings of below freezing in some sections of New York state.

Today's below freezing marks were at Grand Forks, Pembina and Dickinson, each reporting 30 above, and Jamestown, N. D., and at International Falls, Minn., 31.

Long Trip

Miami, Fla., Sept. 24—(AP)—The hurricane-churned Atlantic spewed six deadly Japanese anti-shipping mines onto the beach near here, the Coast Guard reported yesterday.

The mines, fully armed, were found as Coast Guardsmen made a routine check of the Atlantic beaches following the hurricane a week ago.

No official theory was advanced as to how the mines might have made a 20,000-mile trip around Cape Horn into the Atlantic.

Mine disposal crews were summoned from the Seventh Naval District headquarters at Jacksonville.

Russia Finds Itself in Weak Minority: Loses Test Votes

Lake Success, Sept. 24—(AP)—Battered and beaten by a majority which no veto could block, Russia found herself today in a weak minority position in her contest with the United States for leadership in the United Nations assembly.

A series of assembly test votes produced that result. Overwhelming majorities crushed Soviet opposition and placed firmly on the assembly's agenda for this session the American-sponsored issues of Greece, Korea and a new veto-free ecurity agency.

Similarly, on an Argentine proposal supported by the United States for revision of the Italian peace treaty, the assembly voted to put the question on the agenda for future full consideration despite the fact that Russia objected and Britain and France took a hands-off attitude.

Voting Important

Diplomatic authorities said the meaning of the votes was highly important for the rest of this session. They predicted that Russia would gain little support for her resolution to condemn alleged "warmongering" in the United States but that the United States would put over easily its program for action by the assembly in the face of Russian protests.

Barring some unexpected development, it appeared that the split in the United Nations has gone about as far as it can go for the time being. Still a matter of high-priority speculation among diplomats, however, is the possibility that after the United States wins its expected assembly victory the Russians may decline to cooperate either with the projected new security agency or the special Greek border agency which Secretary of State Marshall has proposed.

The assembly completed yesterday both the week-long general debate, which saw the lines of showdown between America and Russia clearly drawn, and the approval of the 61-item agenda covering the subjects it will discuss and the decisions it may make the rest of this session.

Study Plan for Single Military Commander

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—The proposal that a single military commander be made responsible for defense of the continental United States is under study by the new unified high command.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal told a news conference yesterday that the plan, proposed several months ago as a part of the armed forces unification program, still is being scrutinized but that no decision has been reached.

The new national defense act makes no specific provision for such a command, but leaves the way open in a section covering the joint chiefs of staff, the military commanders of the army, navy and air force, plus the chief of staff to the president.

Advocates of the plan for the zone of the interior say that among other things it would preclude any possible argument or confusion over where the responsibilities of one service left off and another began.

"Full Punishment" Waited by Killer

Philadelphia, Sept. 24—(AP)—Stocky George Neill sat chain-smoking cigarets in his jail cell today, facing what he called "my full punishment" for the strangle-slaying of his red-haired niece, Isabella Mallon, 11.

"My God, I'm glad this is over," gasped the 22-year-old marine corps combat veteran who yesterday signed a three-page statement that he killed the girl and left her body in a weed-grown vacant lot. "I've got this off my conscience and I feel better."

Police continued their search for the motive. Assistant Police Superintendent George F. Richardson describing Neill as "very evasive" on the subject. Detective Sgt. William H. Simon said Neill claimed he "blacked out" when his hand went around the girl's throat.

A passerby found Isabella's body Sept. 20 in the vacant lot 10 blocks from her home. Meanwhile Neill had disappeared, despite a police teletype request for information on his whereabouts.

He was arrested Monday in Rockville, Md., waived extradition and later told Richardson:

"I choked her. I know I'm guilty.

"I'm not going to be out of it now. I know I'm going to get my full punishment."

Taft Says Hecklers Will Help GOP Win in 1948 Election

Hand Injured in Mishap, Senator Answers His Foes in Seattle

Seattle, Sept. 24 — (AP) — A snarling, heckling demonstration, blamed by a GOP leader on "Communists", prompted Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to predict today that such protest methods would "help the Republicans win the next election".

Ignoring union members and others who booed lustily his defense of the Taft-Hartley labor act, the Ohio senator called today for a reduction in taxes to help cut the high cost of living.

Keeping a bandaged left hand carefully at his side, Taft returned to a discussion of major political issues after an unruly meeting last night in which the small minority of an audience overflowing a 2,100-seat auditorium noisily walked out during the senator's denunciation of labor leaders who have criticized the new law.

Answers His Hecklers

As the departing hecklers shouted: "We've had enough", Taft, his face grim, replied loudly:

"The whole propaganda against the Taft-Hartley act relies on attempts to silence the arguments in favor of that act".

The audience, preponderantly Republican, drowned in resounding cheers the booing and the cat-calls of those who were departing.

Previously Taft had been injured in the confusion of a rail station demonstration that Wilbur Zundel, president of the Young Men's Republican club, had said "could only have been put on by Communists".

As placard-bearing picketers mingled with cheering admirers of the Ohio senator, a nervous driver slammed a car door on Taft's left hand. Dr. Donald T. Hill, a relative

'Degrading'

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—Delegates to the Illinois Federation of Labor convention were told yesterday that union members were "degrading the sacred right of free speech" by picketing Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) on his western speaking tour.

Daniel D. Carmell, general counsel for the state and Chicago federations, and a representative for nine international unions and about 300 locals, scored the picketing action. It is "disgracing organized labor", he said and giving impetus to those outside the labor movement to declare the Taft-Hartley law a "necessity to curb such illegal union acts".

Lt. Gov. Hugh Cross told the convention that "enemies of labor in Illinois have been stopped cold", and added that union labor "can never be destroyed by anti-labor legislation".

Bankers Ask To Combat Inflation

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—Comptroller of the Currency Preston Delano said today "we are in the full swing of a postwar inflation which is severe and dangerous", and appealed to the nation's banks to help put on the brakes.

As supervisor of the national banking system, Delano urged state banking commissioners to discourage "dangerous credit practices" by the 9,500 institutions which they oversee. He added:

"We can use our influence and all our persuasive powers to prevent an undue expansion of credit in those fields which contribute heavily toward a continuation of this inflation spiral in which we are caught and which has woven its web around us."

Delano said inflation resulted from a combination of internal and international factors—the "tremendous increase in the volume of money in this country," shortages of goods, and the need to ship food and other supplies to nations hard hit by the war.

Stransky Isn't In Prescott Case He Declares in Paper

The Chicago Daily News today quoted Attorney Franklin J. Stransky, Savanna, as saying that he believed the indictments returned .. 26 against Rep. Lyle M. Prescott and William and Leroy Meyers charging them with defrauding the state in land deals, would be quashed.

The Chicago story said that Stransky said he had not been retained to defend Prescott. It was indicated when Prescott appeared in Lee county Circuit court before Judge Leon A. Zick .. 27 that Stransky would direct Prescott's defense.

"I was never in that case", Stransky was quoted as saying by the News "Lyle came and asked me what to do but I told him I just didn't have time to take the case".

On .. 27, when Prescott was given 30 days to file a motion to quash the indictments, it was indicated that Stransky would take part in Prescott's defense, but was too busy at that time to enter into it immediately.

Have Until Friday

Prescott and both Meyers have until Friday to file motions to quash indictments which charge them with operating a confidence game, conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretenses in the sale to the state of farm lands belonging to William and Amy Latta and Gust, Charles and Della Hanson.

Both farms are in southwestern Lee county, adjoining the state game refuge. The three defendants are charged with pocketing approximately $7,100 in state money in closing the deals.

Prescott, in a statement issued after the indictments were returned, charged he is the victim of a "political frameup" and expressed confidence he would be vindicated. All three are now free

Minister's Wife Killed in Chicago Parking Lot

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—A minister's wife was stabbed to death today in her new automobile parked in a lot behind Wieboldt's department store at 63rd and Green streets in a busy south side business district.

She was identified through her automobile driver's license as Mrs. Gracelyn Bush, wife of the Rev. Francis Bush who said she had gone to the store to shop.

The woman had been dead about a half hour when found. Her assailant had stabbed her through the heart.

Police Lt. Patrick Condon said he believed the killer might have been a purse snatcher. The woman's purse was found near the body which was lying in the open door of the car.

Packages were strewn about the car and lot when police arrived. Police were unable to determine immediately whether any money had been taken from the purse.

Mrs. Bush was 32 and was married Sept. 19, 1937. Her husband is pastor of the South Side Seventh Day Adventist church.

Intimidation

Portland, Ore., Sept. 24—(AP)—Photographing a man going through a picket line is an act of intimidation, Municipal Judge J. J. Quillin ruled yesterday in dismissing an assault charge.

Walter Lodewick, a picket at the Leupold & Stevens instrument Company plant here, charged that Merton Parker, 51, grabbed at his camera and struck him.

Parker, who was crossing the picket line, told the court he did grab the picket's camera and "may have" hit Lodewick. He said he had been out of town and did not know of the strike.

The judge said that in addition to intimidation by photographing, "the matter of the right of privacy must be considered".

Princeton Man Sues to Recover Partner's Alleged Gaming Loss

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—A suit was on file today in LaSalle county Circuit court in which a Princeton, Ill., man seeks treble damages of more than $26,000 to cover gambling losses he said were suffered by his business partner.

The suit was filed yesterday by Edwin E. Haynes 41, who described his partner in a harness making and shoe repair business as Roger V. Pierson, 22, Princeton attorney. Haynes' suit said the money loss was "partnership money."

Defendants and amount sought from each:

Thomas Kelly and William Cawley, proprietors of a LaSalle, Ill., night club, $14,070; William R. Cosgrove, owner of the Silver Congo night club, LaSalle, $3,660, Frank Gregorich, Jr., owner of the Maple Night club, Peru, Ill., $2,652, and H. Russell Weaver, proprietor of the Puritan club, near Mendota, Ill., $6,030. Gregorich is president of the Illinois Retail Liquor Dealers' Association. The suit said the losses were suffered in 1944 and 1945.

A grand jury is currently investigating gambling in LaSalle county.

County Sued for Redress of $10,000

Hollenbeck Bridge Fatality Basis: Jury Gets Donoho Plea Today

Lee county and Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake have been named as defendants in a $10,000 damage suit filed in Lee county Circuit court by Elizabeth Lundquist, administrator of the estate of Lois Lundquist, 17-year-old Rock Falls high school student, who died last Oct. 13 of injuries suffered when the car in which she was riding plunged into Hollenbeck creek on the Rock Island road, Oct. 11.

Also named as defendants in the suit are Robert Sandusky, Rock Falls youth, driver of the car, and Orville Whaley, Rock Falls, owner of the car.

The suit charges that Leake was negligent and careless, failing to provide adequate safeguards, signs and signals warning that the Hollenbeck bridge, damaged by floods in the spring of 1946, was out.

Fast Driving Alleged

Sandusky is charged with driving too fast.

The Lundquist girl was fatally injured and Sandusky, Marilyn Schmitt and Betty Whaley, all of Rock Falls, were injured less seriously when their car crashed through a barricade and hurdled the creek where the bridge had washed out, landing on the opposite bank.

The accident touched off a flood of criticism of Leake for alleged delays in replacing the bridge. Nelson citizens circulated a petition with approximately 200 signers addressed to Leake; John T. Emmitt, Nelson township supervisor; and Walter Rosenfield, state director of public works and buildings, demanding immediate repair of the bridge.

The Dixon Chamber of Commerce also joined in criticism of delays in replacing the bridge.

Leake answered his critics by laying blame for delays at the feet of the War Production Board and material shortages.

Mrs. Lundquist is represented by the law firms of Warner & Warner and Dixon, Devine, Brack & Ryan.

Damage Case To Jury

The $10,000 damage suit brought by Everett Donoho against Gerald and Margaret Reynolds and J. E. Harrison for fatal injuries suffered by Shirley Mae Donoho in an auto accident near here May 11, 1945, went to the jury at approximately 10.45 a. m. today.

People's Profit in 1946 30 Billions?

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—The people of the United States made a profit of slightly more than $30.000.000,000 last year, Franzy Eakin, Decatur accountant and economist, reported today.

The country was worth more than $428.500.000,000, Eakin added.

Eakin has rendered an income and expense statement, and a balance sheet of the national economy, taking his information from reports of the U. S. department of commerce, the treasury department, the federal reserve system, and the bureau of census.

Eakin believes the people of the nation will know more about their accomplishments if someone uses an accounting system on the available reports. He has organized a non-profit corporation called Economic Accounting, Inc., and is sending his reports to newspapers, columnists, radio commentators, business and government leaders throughout the country.

Eakin's report for 1946 also shows:

An average of 57,260,000 persons worked; 10,113,000 were self-employed; and 47, 147,000 were employes of corporations, proprietors, and government branches.

A total of 7,292,000 worked on farms; 14,635,000 in factories; 229,000 in mines; 2,334,000 on construction; 10,433,000 in trades; 4,764,000 in transportation and public utilities; 8, 592,000 in financial service and miscellaneous; 3,510,000 in armed services; 1,866,000 in civilian federal government jobs; and 2,905,000 in state and local government jobs.

PAPER COLLECTION: Dixon Boy Scouts will conduct a waste paper collection throughout the city, including the business district, Saturday, starting at 8:00 a. m. Donors in the residential district should bundle their papers and place them at the curbs.

NLRB Declares ITU Unfair; May Bring Court Test

Claim Union Local Fails To Bargain in Good Faith

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, today challenged the no-contract policy of the AFL Typographical union as an unfair labor practice under the Taft-Hartley act.

A complaint by Denham against the international union and Baltimore local No. 12 will be heard by a regional examiner in Baltimore Oct. 6.

Jacob L. Edelman, attorney representing the Baltimore local, promised to battle the complaint "every inch of the way."

Denham accused the ITU and its affiliate of refusing "to bargain collectively in good faith" with 22 Baltimore printing firms organized as the Graphic Arts league.

Union Finds a Way

The Taft-Hartley act, for the first time, makes unions legally liable for unfair labor practices and defines refusal to bargain as such a practice.

In order to get around a provision of the Taft-Hartley act which bans closed shops, the typographers have adopted a policy of posting in a place of employment the conditions under which members will work. The conditions may include a statement that they will work only with printers who are ITU members. No contract is signed with the employer.

The Baltimore local followed this policy. The Graphic Arts league contended it constituted a refusal to bargain and 10 days ago asked Denham to step in.

May Get Court Test

The Baltimore regional examiner who holds the hearing will report to the National Labor Relations Board. If the board upholds the complaint it may order the ITU and local No. 12 to stop the practice and, if necessary, ask the courts to enforce the order.

This would open the way for an eventual supreme court test.

Denham's complaint, issued through NRLB Regional Director Ross M. Madden at Baltimore, charged the ITU and its local with "restraining and coercing" the printing shops in the selection of plant foremen as well as refusing to bargain.

Edelman said the union officers "deny emphatically any such charges" and declared:

"Impetuous Action"

"I feel it was the impetuous action of someone in Washington who authorized the issuance of the complaint. There was no threatening action I know of to justify the complaint."

In a second challenge of the ITU policy the union employers section of the Printing Industry of America yesterday adopted a resolution pledging members to bargain with the union in "full compliance" with the Hartley act.

The resolution, voted at a meeting in French Lick, Ind., said "this no-contract policy is in our opinion a violation of both the spirit and the letter" of the act "in that it represents a refusal on the part of this union to bargain collectively."

Sinnissippi Farm Reopens Sawmill After Revamping

Sinnissippi Forest Sawmill, designed to serve the local community and located at the entrance to Sinnissippi farm, is again in operation after extensive remodeling.

The mill was shut down for three months while a larger mill was being erected and more up-to-date machinery installed. A planer is to be added to the equipment within a few weeks.

At present native hardwood lumber and some white pine lumber from the older planting on Sinnissippi forest are in stock. In addition, 2,500 pine posts taken from the thinnings of the plantations have recently been treated and are ready for use.

Howard W. Fox, forester, formerly with the Rock River Timber Management service in the seven northwestern counties of Illinois, is now manager of Sinnissippi forest. He succeeds George E. M. Gustafson who left May 1 to enter government service in Alaska. The operators of the forest are Dr. and Mrs. C. Phillip Miller of Chicago and Sinnissippi farm.

Hollywood—(AP)—Olivia De Havilland, who a little more than a year ago was Hollywood's No. 1 bachelor girl, is now the town's prize booster for the married state.

She stopped playing insane long enough on "The Snake Pit" set to offer a few sane observations, gleaned from her first year as Mrs. Mark Goodrich:

"There's nothing like wedded life. No girl should be without it. But don't get married just to be Mrs. Somebody. You really do know the real thing when it arrives. Make sure yours is.

"Don't fear for your freedom. I haven't given up one single thing, but I've gained lots. I can even have coffee in bed, served by my husband. What bachelor girl can make that statement?"

There have been moments, of course. That night at New York's St. Regis, for one, It's a story she's kept quiet for almost a year.

She and her writer-husband had been married two weeks. No sooner had they reached the room than she took out the marriage license, propped it on the mantle. Then they looked around. Twin beds!

"Not for us, I decided. Mark agreed. I called the manager. 'This', I said, 'is Miss De Havil—. I mean, Mrs. Goodrich. Could we have a bed..I mean, could we have a double bed instead of the twin ones?'

"Certainly", he replied. Ultimately it arrived, carried by six men, followed by six maids with sheets. What a production! In the midst of it all, one of them spotted the marriage license. You've never heard such giggling. I fled".

But, she finished, "We still have a double bed".

When Hal Wallis bought June Truesdell's Psychological novel, "Be Still, My Love", for an announced $50,000, then took a look at June he mused: "Hm. Here, perhaps, we have another Kathleen Windsor".

Not that Artie Shaw's looking for another mate. Or June. Yet June's a looker; dark, petite and shapely. And she can write.

But there will be no glamor-buildup for her. She's spurned pictures in bathing suits, scanty gowns. There were no cheesecake No sexy, dreamy-eyed shots, with long black hair carefully draped over white bear rug.

All of which delights the Hollywood press corps, of which June is an alumni. A native of Glendale, who made her way to the movie city through the Hollywood hills, she and husband John Truesdell wrote a syndicated film column for the Des Moines Register and Tribune before he joined the Army air forces.

While he flew, she wrote. When he was discharged, her first book already was on the stands. They decided not to go back to the column, retired to snowbound Lake Arrowhead to come out with a novel apiece. His will be published this fall.

"Writing is great", they agree. "But then, so far there have been no rejection slips".

Quickies: Very quietly last week on his 25th birthday, William S. Hart, Jr., came into a $100,000 trust fund set up at his birth. But there's been no indication he's giving up his contest of his two-gun father's will, which excluded him and his mother, Winifred Westover, from the $1,000,000 estate..Groucho Marx is branching out again. He and Norman Krasna have written a play, "Elizabeth', which Melvin Douglas will produce and direct, hoping eventually to reach Broadway with it. And Groucho's mulling a deal which would make him emcee of a new radio audience-participation show. John Gunther is working hard on his newest, "Inside Washington".. Radio stations are cracking down on off-color recordings. KFWB banned 25 objectionable ones last week.

Esther Williams has an infected ear as a result of not following doctor's orders. She punctured an ear drum during a swimming sequence. Although she was ordered to keep out of the water, the screech mermaid had to get her fins wet. Now she's a sick girl.. Additional medical note: Ellen Drew is home from the hospital where she received 13 blood transfusions which saved her expected child.

If Keenan Wynn doesn't get the role of the press agent in "State of the Union," Spencer Tracy will be disappointed. He's asked the bosses for young Wynn .. This week Kay Kyser speaks at the American Hospital Association in Kansas City. His theme, Public Health, is Kay's pet project .. Linda Darnell will tour Texas next month to help raise $225,000 to be used in a campaign to save the U. S. S. Texas from the scrap heap.. Off the set: Ted Donaldson, playing baseball in his pajamas, between takes of "Christopher Blake".

Lana Turner is also celebrating her 10th anniversary in films. Her first role was in "They Won't Forget." And we didn't. Artie Wayne's recording of "That's What Your Heart Is For" features a background furnished by the heartbeat of one of Hollywood's top actresses. We watched her record the beat but are sworn to secrecy..Melvin Douglas' first production for his own company will be "You Were Away," a post-war melodrama with a French background.

Dennis Morgan, back from locations in France for "To The Victor," has little comment to make on the long skirts, communism, or foreign film production. His company worked on Omaha and Utah Beaches in Normandie sites of the first American landings on French soil in World War II.

French Ask Immediate U. S. Dollar Aid, Hear

Paris, Sept. 24—(AP)—French leaders were reported today to have informed U. S. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder that unless aid comes from America within a few weeks France will face a financial crisis and any help under the Marshall plan will be too late.

There is no prospect of early Marshall plan aid to Europe, since the U. S. congress, which must authorize such financial help, is not scheduled to meet until January.

Politics Slowing Up St. Lawrence Plans

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—An advocate of the long-discussed St. Lawrence seaway and power project asserted today that "were it not for political considerations this great international development would now bear the approval of congress".

Dr. N. R. Danalien, vice-president of the National St. Lawrence association, commenting on the recent inspection of the proposed seaway by the house public works committee which has before it legislation to authorize the development, also said.

"The committee must know now that there is great popular demand for the seaway and that it is not being promoted by only a few".

Danalien accompanied the committee on its inspection.

The legislation, which has been approved by the senate foreign relations committee and is thus headed for early consideration by the senate next session, provides that the half-billion dollar development be made self-liquidating through imposition of tolls.

Waukegan Man Named to Liquor Control Job

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—Appointment of Frank Hough, former Waukegan alderman as downstate supervisor for the Liquor Control commission, effective Oct 1, was announced yesterday by Governor Green's office. Hough succeeds Mancel Talcott of Waukegan who resigned to accept a position in private business.

Movies, Radio and Comics Criticized

Cleveland, Sept. 24—(AP)—An American Bar Association committee chairman declared today that the movies, radio and comic strip syndicates feed children an entertainment diet heavy with crime and dashed with a frequent "seasoning of illicit sex relations".

While juvenile crime is on the increase, said Arthur J. Freund of St. Louis, chairman of a special committee assigned to the problem a year ago, "The surprising circumstances is that the rate is not higher".

Freund's report to the criminal law section of ABA's 70th convention suggested the three industries were inviting federal regulation.

In movies, comics and on the radio, the lawyer, the judge and the process of law often are unfavorably presented or treated with "grotesque" inaccuracy, the Missouri lawyer reported.

He applauded the National Broadcasting Company for its recent order banning crime and mystery shows until after children's usual bedtime. James V. Bennett, federal director of prisons who presided at the meeting, voiced hope that the other networks would follow suit.

Long Skirts May Bring About Sidewalk Repairs

Pittsburgh, Sept. 24—(AP)—The new long skirts for women can be credited with effecting long delayed sidewalk repairs in Pittsburgh.

City Councilman E. J. Leonard, who has advocated pavement rehabilitation for some time, yesterday renewed his plea on the ground that the new skirts coupled with the usual high heels may increase the number of falls and turned ankles on broken or crumbling paving.

Council immediately passed a ruling that all property owners must repair their sidewalks at once.

Army Officer Urges People's Defenses Against A-Bombing

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 24—(AP)—Col. William H. Neblett, president of the Reserve Officers' Association, yesterday urged the organization of citizen defense forces throughout the United States as the basis of protection in case of an atom bomb attack which he said could make casualties of two-thirds of the nation's population within five hours.

"We would have to start dividing the whole country into small military districts. In each district, a small citizen defense force should be organized for the men and women of that community." Col. Neblett told the 27th annual convention of the Military Order of the World Wars.

"Each unit should be commanded by local officers and should be actually armed with the most modern weapons. Education in this method of defense should be begun in all schools and continued through the colleges.

Urges Launching Sites

"Launching sites for all types of modern missiles should be strategically located throughout the country and, by a system of rotation, constantly manned. It is believed that universal training based upon such an organization would meet with the approval of the people."

Neblett said that testimony before congressional committees had placed the number of likely victims in case of an atom bomb attack at 40,000,000 dead. However, he said, no mention was made of the number of injured which he placed at an additional 40,000,000 within five hours of atom bombing.

Neblett said the U. S. Navy was still so powerful that it would repel any seaborne invasion and therefore war would be "extremely unlikely during the next two or three years." He urged the preparation of adequate defenses after that period when, he said, "anything may happen."

MacArthur Brands Nip Story as "Pipe Dream"

Tokyo, Sept. 24—(AP)—Japanese who have been without American tobacco for 10 years except from black market dealers, since the occupation, read in the newspaper Yomiuri today that popular cigarettes would be back on sale by October, but General MacArthur's headquarters labeled the report "a pipe dream."

The newspaper had reported that 1,150,000 cartons of American cigarettes, 20,000 packages of pipe tobacco and 3,000 boxes of cigars would go on sale. Nobody seemed to know where the rumor, which excited tobacco-hungry Japanese, came from.

Boy Unappreciative of His Distinction

Los Angeles, Sept. 24—(AP)—The doctors call eight-year-old Wyman Reams a rare case but he's not very appreciative of the distinction.

He fell when a limb broke on a small palm tree in front of his home in Westwood village and fractured, not one, but both forearms.

Not only that but the medics said the x-rays of each arm were identical—two fractures, same time, same way.

But what impresses Wyman the most seems to be the fact he has to wear casts on each arm for a month.

Bridge-Building is Returning Slowly to Pre-War U. S. Level

Costs 70 Per Cent More To Build Bridges Than in 1939

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 24—(AP)—The 1930's were a glorious era in bridge-building.

Record - breaking suspension bridges lifted their towers high and added strength and majesty to the American scene.

The 1940's have told a different story.

As though symbolically, this decade opened with a dismal event. The third longest span in the world fell down. The Narrows bridge at Tacoma, Wash., stretching 2,800 feet between it towers, began swinging violently on Nov. 7, 1940, and crashed into Puget Sound.

Then came the war, and most bridge-building was put aside.

Since the war, construction of big bridges has been slow coming back. One reason is the steel shortage. Another reason is the high price of everything needed in construction.

More Expensive Now

E. L. Erickson, assistant chief of the bridge division of the public roads administration, says it costs about 70 per cent more to build a bridge nowadays than it did in 1939.

But some big projects are getting started, and others are dreamed of.

The task of rebuilding the Narrows bridge will begin soon.

The army engineers have recently given permission for a whopping suspension bridge crossing the Delaware south of Wilmington.

Work has begun on twin highway drawbridges over the Potomac here in Washington

Folks in New Orleans are still planning a bridge across the Mississippi to suburban Algiers. A Mississippi bridge is already under construction at Memphis Others are planned upriver.

Galveston has long nursed an astonishing plan—half bridge, half tunnel under the bay.

Talk of Annapolis Bridge

There is talk of a bridge across Chesapeake bay near Annapolis.

There is also talk of thrusting another mighty structure over San Francisco bay, paralleling the one that links San Francisco and Oakland.

New York harbor would have gained a thriller, rainbowing across from Battery park to Brooklyn—but the army engineers said no, and a tunnel is being dug instead.

The army feared that a bridge might some day be destroyed by accident or design, and block the mouth of the East river.

But Erickson says the day of building huge bridges is not over—not yet, at least.

When the thirties opened, the Ambassador bridge at Detroit was the longest span in the world, being suspended by cables from towers 1,850 feet apart. (Span simply means a section of a bridge that is unsupported from below.)

Golden Gate Still Tops

In 1931 came the George Washington bridge across the Hudson, linking Upper Manhattan with the New Jersey Palisades. This majestic structure, 3,500 feet between towers, almost doubled the size of the previous record-holder.

In 1936, the San Francisco-Oakland bridge was completed. It cost $77,200,000 and is the largest bridge project ever built. It has two suspensions, each 2,310 feet, and they make up only one section of the bridge.

The same year marked the completion of the enormous snake-like Triborough bridge in New York City.

The George Washington still was the greatest single span But not for long.

In 1937 the Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco became the record-holder, and it still is. The roadway soars a 1,200 feet from tower to tower. It is hung from two cables 36½ inches thick which pass over the tops of the towers, 746 feet high. Only six office buildings in the world are higher than that.

New York City came through with another exciting one in 1939 the graceful gleaming Bronx-Whitestone span, 2,300 feet between towers.

This was suspended the following year by the Narrows bridge, but it soon dropped out of the competition. It was only four months old when it fell.

Russian Boycott Needn't Kill UN, MacKenzie Says

Organization Still Could Render Great Service To Rest of Globe

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The battle in the United Nations between the democracies and the Russian bloc has developed a new angle through the declaration by a high Soviet source that the Soviet union undoubtedly will boycott the "little assembly" proposed by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall if it is established.

The "little assembly" would be a general committee on which all members of the U. N. would be entitled to representation and it would sit permanently to consider vital matters such as those which now are being side-tracked in the powerful security council by Russian veto. The Muscovites hold that such a committee would contravene the U. N. charter.

Would It Hurt U. N.?

This Soviet threat may be a bluff, but if we accept it at face value, for the sake of argument, the question immediately arises whether such a boycott would jeopardize the whole U. N. Some observers fear that it might, since it would tend toward a peace organization from which the Soviet bloc would stand aloof.

The answer to this, unfortunately, is that statesmen generally recognize that the U. N. already has been rendered impotent by Soviet tactics of obstruction. So the little assembly would create no threat to a unity which doesn't exist. The U. N. already is divided along the same lines as the world at large—the Soviet bloc on the one hand and the rest of the globe on the other.

The ideal solution of these divisions of course would be that advocated yesterday by Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N. He made an impassioned appeal to the warring east-west powers to reconcile their differences which he declared were breeding fear and hate throughout the world.

U. N. Could Get Along

"The indispensable condition for peace," Lie told the assembly, "is that nations with different social systems and different interests shall strive and work together, side by side, in peace. This must find expression in political negotiations which show willingness to compromise. Without such a will x x x no mechanism for the maintenanace of international peace and security, however perfect, can be effective."

That obviously is a true bill. However, until the happy day of compromise arrives there would seem to be merit in the effort of the democracies to drag the present helpless U. N. organization out of the doldrums so that it will be partly effective.

As a matter of fact a reconstructed U. N. could be highly effective since the majority of the world's nations want to make it work. The absence of Russia and her satellites would be a shocking thing, and it is to be avoided by all reasonable means, but there are many who believe that it wouldn't render the reconstructed organization useless by a long shot. It still could perform a great service for most of the globe.

Will Contest Reveals Dogs' Amazing Tastes

Los Angeles, Sept. 23—(AP)—The amazing tastes of Carleton R. Bainbridge's Irish setters, Pat and Gunner, whom he left $30,000 continue to regale a Superior court jury hearing the contest of the will brought by Sherman J. Bainbridge, brother of the late dog fancier.

Witnesses yesterday testified that Bainbridge told them the dogs preferred Mickey Mouse and similar cartoons at the movies, which they attended regularly with their master.

Attorneys in the casce stipulated that although the dogs talk they do not speak English. Which prompted Judge Charles S. Burnell to get into the act.

"I asked my dog over the weekend if he'd like to sit on this case", said the judge, "but he said he wasn't interested".

COMMUNITY CHEST

The Community Chest method of supplying the funds needed for the welfare work in the city is saving in time, effort and money. This should be easily seen by every citizen. It is a civic responsibility in which every one can participate. There is satisfaction in the knowledge that the money thus contributed will be wisely distributed and spent and, that having once contributed to the chest, there will be no further call for another year.

A Community Chest must be truly cooperative if it is to realize the full advantage possible in such an organization. It should include the leaders of all interested groups, all participating agencies, all prospective contributors and campaign workers. Its complete success depends upon able leadership and sound administration.

What community interests should participate in the chest?

The more the better. It is an organization through which all religious, racial, economic and professional interests in the community unite in unselfish service for the common good. Such unity will come when all these interests have full confidence in the objectives and management of the chest because they will share in the responsibility for the management.

From an economic standpoint, the raising of funds for all agencies and services in one campaign is far less expensive than the organization and operation of five or six drives by different groups at different times. Therefore more of the money contributed by citizens can be spent for the welfare of the community. One large agency which conducts annual campaigns on a national scale figures that it can reduce its request for funds in a city where they can participate in the Community Chest by as much as fifteen per cent because of the lessened expense.

From the standpoint of effort the majority of workers participate in the canvasses of all worthy causes. This means that they solicit three or four times a year. A Community Chest means one campaign in which all workers take part. This means that there will be more workers in the one campaign to meet the contributors but less work for all. One-third of the effort and better results.

The time and energy of the managers of the welfare agencies are freed from the year round struggle for finances and they are enabled to concentrate their efforts on the rendering of the services for which they are set up. The coordination of agencies is placed on a practical basis and thus is encouraged and improved. Better standards of agency service can be established and encouraged.

Here is how a Community Chest works:

The management is invested in the hands of the board of directors consisting of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and 12 directors elected by the general council. This council is made up of one representative from every religious, welfare, service, civic and fraternal organization in the city. The board of directors is elected each year. This board formulates the policies of the chest. It investigates all requests for funds, both from local agencies and from national bodies, and from the results of these studies make up the budget for the year. It organizes and conducts the annual campaign for funds to meet this budget and then disributes the funds raised in accordance with the budget. Each agency will have the opportunity of appearing before the board to explain its needs and to show how the funds for which it asks will be spent. A full discussion of such needs is invited.

Each member agency will agree to accept the funds alloted to it by the board of directors and not to put on an individual drive or tag day in the community.

The Community Chest plan is a fair method, as it solicits contributions from the whole community, to support the services that benefit the entire city. It enables subscribers to do their full share in supporting these services by budgeting their contributions and by reducing the cost of raising funds makes more of the contributions available for the purpose for which they are given.

LAWYERS SHOULD LEAD

Cleveland, Sept. 23—(AP)—Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson believes U. S. lawyers should assume leadership in a reaffirmation of faith in their country—a faith that can triumph over "totalitarianism doctrines."

These doctrines, he told the American Bar Association in convention last night, not only menace the ideal of government abroad but are at work here in the United States.

Basket-like containers, into which burning pieces of wood were thrown, were used for lighting during the Renaissance.

A Thought for Today

Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions. —Hebrews 11:33.

* * *

All I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for all I have not seen.—Emerson.

Confusion

Typical of the confusion over the high and rising cost of food were the findings of Senator Flanders' investigating committee in a one-day session of Providence, R. I. Everybody had an explanation or excuse, and the result resembled the old story of the blind man describing an elephant after a limited exploration of the animal by sense of touch.

A miller said that farmers were making an "unconscionable profit," and that the government's farm price support program should be repealed.

A market official told the committee that export buying of beef was at the root of high meat costs. He explained that Britain, in June, had standing orders for beef at $2 a hundredweight higher than the local market.

An AFL representative charged wholesalers and manufacturers or producers with chief responsibility. High corporate profits, not high wages, were the cause of all the trouble, a CIO official insisted. He demanded a special session of Congress to restore price controls and rationing.

A retailer said some of his colleagues had reduced operating expenses 4 per cent and still were making less money on a greater volume of business. "That proves," he said, "that retailing is not the cause of high prices."

This confusion is normal as well as typical, and almost everyone shares it. But opinionated confusion cluttered up with preconceptions and extraneous theories won't help. Neither will hysteria. Neither will the intrusion of politics into an already unhappy mess. For there are a few factors amidst all the uncertainties which seem to stand forth clearly, and which need to be accepted.

Perhaps the surest thing is that we cannot stop or drastically curtail food exports to Europe, as some have suggested. American food is a political weapon. If we withhold it Europeans will suffer and turn against us. Insecure governments friendly to the United States, like those in Italy and France, would almost surely fall. They have become more insecure with each cut in the bread ration. The shutting off of American aid would finish them, and the Communists would undoubtedly move in and take over.

Furthermore, too little export to Europe would harm our economy. For exports help to keep the domestic food industry going at a steady pace. This keeps employment high and maintains buying power.

Rationing and price controls aren't the solution. First of all, Congress almost certainly would not reimpose them with an election coming up.

The general exhortation to eat less is not very helpful. Many Americans eat too much and can and should cut down. But far many more just began to approach an adequate diet during the war years. They shouldn't cut down, though they probably are having to without urging under present price conditions.

A better idea of what is wanted for Europe, and when, would certainly help, if such information can be had. With it, government allocation of grain supplies (which affect meat, poultry, egg and dairy supplies) might then remove some of the current uncertainty.

Finally, there is one rather pessimistic hope. No matter what is causing the high food prices, they are bound to come down when they get so high that the majority of people can't pay for them.

THANK YOU

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness, messages and floral tributes during our recent bereavement.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York—I was telling you that Robert Stripling, the chief investigator of the old Dies committee and now chief investigator for the Thomas committee, finally was shanghaied into the army. He was the father of a child born before Pearl Harbor and surely was not regarded as a military asset because he put in more than a year as a yardbird, picking up butts and wrappers. For about four months in the summer and fall of 1944 it had been almost impossible to give a man to the army because Roosevelt was easing the pressure on the great American home in anticipation of the election. The draft boards manned the rifle slits and drove them off. After election, this changed. Recruiting and drafting business picked up; rationing tightened and there was a shell shortage in France, soon after Roosevelt had sung his melodious song of military abundance.

But still, the drafting of Mr. Stripling was special political business. All the Washington Bolsheviki hated him and two regular national broadcasts, done in the guise of news on Sunday nights, clamored at his draft board to fetch him. Stripling was our best authority on the Bolshevik sedition and all such treachery. You would have thought the army and navy would compete for him as an intelligence officer, but they didn't dare touch him. They tossed rank right and left to hack playwrights and nightclub fakers, but Stripling was in wrong with Eleanor the Great. When they took him as a draftee he couldn't even catch on with an outfit for about a year. He was an orphan soldier in the army of his native land. When the old man died Stripling was made a master sergeant and set to teaching a class in subversive activities. Herbert Hoover was invited to the White House.

* * *

Some people still believe old Eleanor was always sincere and kind. But not all people. Some others have caught that icy glint.

Stripling had put himself in a dangerous position. Those bigots of the Roosevelt S. S. were restrained only by the fact that our people had resisted better than the Germans opposed Hitler.

Eleanor the Great was trying to build up her own youth movement. The nazis had their Hitler Youth, including girls, and the Italians had their loathsome little sprouts, sticking their chins out and brandishing cheap stilettos with a sanguinary motto stamped on the blades. Eleanor invited some nasty free-loaders to the White House and to her homes and then one day she showed up at a hearing of the Dies committee to give aid and comfort to her particular house-pet, Joe Lash.

Well, back in 1939, Jerry Voorhis, a California New Deal congressman who is not a bolo but very guillible, had some business at the White House. And passing the Lincoln bedroom, Voorhis saw Joe Cadden and Abbott Simon, professionals in the youth racket, as you might say, at home in the Great Emancipator's old private chamber. Voorhis let out an awful holler to Mr. Big, but a lot of good that did; the old girl outmanned the boss in every contest. Remember, she even served orange blossoms to Roosevelt's personal and official guest, Winston Churchill, a brandy man. In other days that could have started a war.

"My God," Churchell yelled, "I am in the house of the Borgias," and spewed it into the rubber plant.

No, wait. That wasn't Churchill. That was John Barrymore the night Gene Fowler's daughter served him sarsaparilla and told him it was something called Black Velvet, made of champagne and porter.

Still, Voorhis begged the rest of the boys on the Dies committee to go easy on the American Youth Congress, because Eleanor had asked him to persuade them not to call it a communist front. Like dummies, they pulled a punch for her and a few months later the outfit held a convention in Washington and booed her old gent when he said communism was dictatorship, too. Stalin and Hitler were allies then. That Cadden, who was in Lincoln's bedroom as a guest, recently turned up in another Commy front called the Civil Rights Congress.

* * *

Lash had caught on as the old girl's fair-haired boy. She almost adopted the guy. When she took her joyride to the Pacific she called on Joe in some comfortable place where he was stationed and kissed him. Pat Robinson, of the INS, reported that he asked some gloomy GI: "How would you like to be kissed by the president's wife?" The guy said, "not a dam bit but I sure would like to be kissed by my own wife."

Before that, the old girl had planted Lash in the Office of Civilian Defense with Mayris Chaney, that small-time dancer from California, and Melvyn Douglas, of the movies. The OCD commandeered a whole big apartment house on Du Pont place and kicked the tenants out, but pretty soon it got just too silly even for the U. S. A. under Eleanor and was disbanded. All this time a lot of politics was going to get Lash a commission in Navy Intelligence. The Navy said nothing doing until he got a clearance from the Dies committee. Then one day Stripling got a command to come and see her majesty at the White House. He refused on the ground that he had no authority to speak for the committee. That was practically suicide. Then Dies got an invitation to lunch and, like a sucker, he fell for that first lady business.

She wanted a special, confidential hearing for Lash so he could unlouse himself of his old political associations and reputation. The committee gave him the hearing and he was supposed to squeal on his old friends. But so many of them were friends of Eleanor that he choked up and wouldn't chirp. So the committee just sent a note to Lash's draft board reporting that he seemed to be in excellent health, and he got grabbed. Later, Dies got a note from Eleanor saying he had double-x'd her and he lost out in a small purge at the hands of Sidney Hillman in the next election. Stripling didn't have a chance. The propaganda got him and the strange part is that he wasn't ordered into some spot where he would be sure to be killed with all his knowledge. Maybe they lacked the nerve.

More than 800,000 destructive fires annually destroy an estimated $90,000,000 worth of property and kill an estimated 3,500 people in the United States.

Deaths

JUDGE MICHAEL ROSINIA

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—Judge Michael L. Rosinia, 59, of the Chicago Domestic Relations court, died today.

He is survived by his widow, Lena, and three brothers, James, Thomas and Frank, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Rizzo.

Judge Rosinia was admitted to the bar in 1910 and served later as assistant corporation counsel for the city, counsel for the Illinois State Treasurer, and was elected Municipal judge last December.

Chinese Reds Cut Vital Railway Line

Tientsin, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Chinese government, expecting a communist drive in Manchuria, found its railway lifeline to the crucial territory severed by Red raiders at several points today.

Reports reaching here from the north said the Tientsin-Mukden railroad had been cut both north and south of the Great Wall, with 20,000 communists massing at the wall itself near Shanhaikwan.

Japanese Warned To Conserve Wild Life

Tokyo, Sept. 24—(AP)—Allied headquarters' wild life director warned Japanese today that unless they quit killing off their wild birds and animals for food, they would soon wipe them out.

The director, Dr. O. L. Austin, said there had been "a dangerous decline" in Japan's wild life in the last 50 years. He scored Japanese netting and trapping methods and defended the occupation's ban on the shooting of ducks in the spring mating season.

This Is Happy

By PEGGY DERN

She had stopped to fuel her pocket umbrella, when a man rushing out of the building collided with her violently. "I'm so sorry—" Happy gasped.

I

It was definitely cold and a steady downpour of chilling rain fell from lowering gray skies. Wind whipping down canyon-like streets fell with cruel glee upon people huddled under umbrellas at street corners, waiting for traffic lights to change. People walked with shoulders hunched against the bitter blast, their faces reflecting some of the sullen fury of the late October day.

But Happy stood straight, pretty head erect. Her white raincoat was belted snugly about her slender body and, above her head, the gay conical umbrella was like a bright challenge flung into the teeth of the wind and the rain.

Near Washington Square she turned from Fifth Avenue into a side street, and gasped a little as the full force of the wind and the rain hurled into her face. But she took it as a challenge and laughed back at it.

She scanned the numbers as she walked along, and suddenly paused to turn from the street into the entrance of a new and rather impressive apartment building. As she stopped to fuel her pocket umbrella, a man rushing out of the building collided with her violently and his long arms shot out to steady her.

"I'm so sorry—" Happy gasped, and laughed again.

The man's hands tightened on her arms and he glared at her furiously.

"What the devil have you got to laugh about on a day like this?" He hurled the words at her out of some obscure anger she could not understand.

"I like rainy days," she protested.

"Nonsense! Nobody could like a day like this." The man's voice was irate. "And this early in the morning—nobody has any business grinning like a Cheshire cat before he's had at least a cup of coffee!"

"But I had breakfast hours ago," she told him cheerfully. "And I do like rain and wind. It's exciting."

The young man turned her about and, thrusting his arm through hers, marched her back to the street.

"There's more here than meets the eye and you're coming along to explain yourself," he assured her sternly. "I don't propose to put in the rest of the day wondering what on earth ails you."

* * *

The small restaurant was clean and warm, steamy and fragrant with the mingled scents of coffee and crisping bacon.

Not until the man had pushed her into a chair on one side of the small table, and taken the one across from her, did Happy blink and say shakily, "Well, for goodness' sake—"

The young man's mouth twisted bitterly.

"I suppose you're going to tell me haughtily that you never have breakfast with young men who haven't been properly introduced and vouched for."

Happy thought that over for a moment.

"No, I don't think so," she confessed. "I think I was wondering what you're so angry about."

"That's not the question," he gritted with repressed violence. "It's quite understandable how anybody could go about being blindly furious. The puzzling thing is how any girl could go around on a morning like this with an idiotic grin on her face."

The waitress hovered beside the table, looking commiseratingly at Happy and offering a menu.

"Coffee," said the man, stuttering a little at the sight of the menu. "Lots and lots of coffee—black as sin and hot as Hades."

When the waitress went away, the young man folded lean, nervous hands on the cloth and looked at Happy, his dark eyes [illegible] smoldering.

"And now let's have it," he demanded sternly. "What's the matter with you that you run around yipping happily on such a day?"

Happy laughed. "I think the question should be, what's the matter with you? I'm perfectly all right—happy and normal and at peace with the world."

"Meaning, of course, that I'm not. And thank heaven I'm not!" She had never seen a man so tense and full of nerves, and in such a lowering rage. "What right has anybody to be happy in a world like this? A world rapidly coming apart at the seams—seething with injustice and hatred?"

Happy's eyes were warm and understanding.

"I'm sorry; I didn't understand. You were in the war, of course." Her tone was gentle.

The man's thin mouth twisted again.

"Oh, sure I was in the war." His tone derided her gentleness. "Only I wasn't fit to carry a gun, so I lugged a typewriter. And I had a front-row seat at all the unholy mess."

The waitress came back with their order and he drank deeply of the scalding, bitter coffee.

After a moment he asked, "You have a name, I suppose?"

"Of course—all God's chillun got names," she laughed. "Mine's Happy Brandon; what's yours?"

"Steve Landers," he answered, and did not notice the way her eyes widened or the tiny start that she gave. "Happy? What a loathsome appellation—flinging a challenge into the teeth of fate, just begging it to smack you down. And what do you have to be so indecently happy about?"

"Well, I'm young," she answered slowly. "I'm in perfect health; I am self-supporting; I have a home that is really my own, even if it is only one room and a pint-sized kitchenette; and I have Timmy and he adores me—"

"So that explains it," he interrupted crossly. "You're in love."

* * *

He said it accusingly, as though he found something very distasteful about the tender emotion.

Happy's laugh was gay and light.

"Timmy's a cat," she explained her laughter. "A huge golden-yellow cat, five years old, that I've had ever since he was a kitten."

"Oh—a cat." He dismissed that with a grimace.

"And what's wrong with cats?"

"I wouldn't know? I loathe 'em all. What's all this about being [illegible] engrossing? At what [illegible] smothering.

Her eyes brimmed with amusement, but she answered demurely. "I'm a stenographer; really, a private secretary."

"To whom?"

"To you, I hope," she told him sedately.

For a moment he looked startled. "Oh, now see here—" he began, and then his voice changed. "Oh, you're the girl the agency was to send over this morning."

She nodded.

"Oh," he said again, and looked at her with alarm. "Oh, no, I couldn't take it. I couldn't endure having someone around who was always bursting into light laughter and being happy."

"I'm sorry," she said quietly. "It sounded like an exciting job—"

"There's nothing in the least exciting about it," he cut in sharply. "I came back from the war, and while I was still somewhat off my rocker, I let myself be roped into signing contracts for a lot of writing—for the movies, a book—no self-respecting war correspondent could refuse such bait as they dangled in front of me—and the prize idiocy of all, a radio contract."

"In all of which you are going to need a secretary," she reminded him gently.

"I suppose so." He didn't seem at all pleased.

Happy smiled.

"Oh, well, I'm sure the agency can find you somebody grim and middle-aged and—scared to death of the future," she told him sweetly, and started to rise.

"Hey!" He thrust out a hand and pushed her back into her chair. "What an utterly revolting thought! What do you mean I'm scared of the future? Isn't everybody? And why shouldn't we be?"

Happy considered that for a moment and then she nodded.

"I suppose so," she admitted. "Only—well, I suppose I sort of believe in the essential goodness of people and—things."

His sharp hoot of derisive laughter silenced her and brought a stain of color to her fresh young face.

"The essential goodness of people! You poor, furry, blind little—kitten!"

Happy stood up and said quietly, "Thanks for the breakfast. It was very nice. And I do hope you'll find the secretary you want."

She slid into her raincoat while he glowered at her, wanting to stop her but not quite sure just how; not quite sure that he wanted to. And, suddenly, she was gone and it was too late to stop her.

Lucille Kells Marries Wayne E. Friedrichs

Rev. Tope Hears Vows of Dixon Couple in Church

In a setting of white gladiolus in altar baskets, palms and lighted white tapers in candelabra, Miss Lucille Kells, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kells, Dixon Route 1, became the bride of Wayne E. Friedrichs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Friedrichs, 412 East Bradshaw street, the evening of Sept. 13, at 8:00 o'clock in the First Methodist church. The Rev. Merrill S. Tope, pastor, officiated.

Preceding the ceremony Crawford Thomas, organist, played a group of nuptial selections. Mrs. C. L. Nunemaker was soloist and sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer."

White Silk Gown

Given in marriage by her uncle, James L. Kells of Allen Park, Mich., the bride wore a white silk gown fashioned with inserts of chantilly lace, sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and long full skirt extending into a train. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with a detachable corsage of pink roses in the center.

As her sister's maid of honor Miss Lois Kells wore an aqua lace floor-length gown with matching mitts. Her headband was made up of aqua carnations and she carried the same flowers with white gladiolus in her shower bouquet.

Flower Girl In Pink

Francette Matthusen of Chicago, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink lace floor-length dress with matching headband of baby asters and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Warren Friedrichs of Dixon was his brother's best man and E. R. Bowers of Sterling and Donald Thome of Rock Falls ushered.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kells selected a navy blue silk dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Shown following their wedding in the First Methodist church are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Friedrichs and members of their wedding party. The ceremony took place Sept. 13. From left to right are: Warren Friedrichs of Dixon, brother of the bridegroom, best man; the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Friedrichs, 412 East Bradshaw street; the bride, the former Miss Lucille Kells, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kells, Dixon Route 1, and Miss Lois Kells, sister of the bride, maid of honor. The flower girl is Francette Matthusen of Chicago, cousin of the bride.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue and white print silk dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Reception Following

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Loveland House. White and pink were used as the color scheme for the table.

Mrs. William Carlson of Dixon served the cake and Miss Katherine Hile of Dixon the punch. Mrs. Warren Friedrichs was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Jack Gannon and Miss Joan Ruben of the gifts.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains in Tennessee upon return from which they will reside temporarily at 1003 Third street until March when they will move to a farm on Sterling Route 1. For traveling the bride chose a brown and white silk print dress with pink accessories and the pink rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Out-Of-Town Guests

Mrs. Friedrichs is a graduate of Dixon high school in the class of 1943 and for the past three years has been employed as secretary of the Teamsters Union. The bridegroom is a graduate of Sterling Township high school in the class of 1942 and is engaged in farming with his brother.

Out-of-town guests were present from Allen Park, Mich., Cedar Rapids, Ia., Des Moines, Ia., Chicago, Rockford, Rock Falls, Sterling, Compton and Beloit, Wis.

Myrtle Hambley, James Bond Exchange Nuptial Vows in Afternoon Ceremony

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo—In a home wedding solemnized Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Miss Myrtle Hambley, Dixon nurse and daughter of the Albert Hambleys of Polo, became the bride of James Bond of Dixon. The ceremony was performed at the farm home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Humphreys, near Polo. The double ring service was read by Rev. Wayne Crist of the Church of the Brethren in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families.

Preceeding the ceremony, Miss Marie Worley of Dixon played the traditional wedding music. Mrs. Emmerson Witmer sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" and following the prayer "O Perfect Love".

White Satin Gown

The bride was attired in a white satin gown with a long train. Her veil was a fingertip length and she carried a bouquet of white gladiolus.

Mrs. William Bond, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow floor-length gown.

William Bond served as best man for his brother.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress and the bridegroom's mother, a grey suit. Both had corsages of pink flowers.

Home Reception

A reception for 45 relatives and friends was held at the Humphreys home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bond left for a trip to Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Bond is a graduate of Polo Community high school in the class of 1938 and of the Dixon Public hospital school of nursing in the class of 1942. She was employed in the state of Oregon for a year, returning to Dixon in May of this year to continue her profession. Mr. Bond is employed by the Beier bakery.

Upon return from Memphis, they will reside in Dixon.

In an all-white wedding which took place Sept. 14 in St. Matthew's Lutheran church in Warrens, Wis., Miss Dorothy L. Schroeder became the bride of Oliver E. Joseph, Jr., son of the Oliver Josephs, 514 Highland avenue. The double ring service was performed by the Rev. Albert Eberhart, pastor of the church.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white satin, made princess style with a beaded bodice of seed pearls and sweetheart neckline. She wore a fingertip-length veil and carried white gladiolus.

Three Attendants

Miss Loretta Kemp was maid of honor and Mrs. Phyllis Theiler, and Mrs. Kitty Butterfus were bridesmaids. All wore white moire gowns with matching gauntlet gloves.

Harold Grauvogel was best man and Lester Theiler and Walter Smerek ushered.

Reception in Home

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schroeder. From there the couple left on a wedding trip. For going away the bride chose a gray suit and black accessories.

The bride has been employed by the Arlette beauty shop in Beloit for the past five years. Mr. Joseph is employed by the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. He is a veteran of four years service in the Army.

MOOSE WOMEN INVITE GUESTS FOR PARTY ON 1st ANNIVERSARY

Women of the Moose members celebrated the first anniversary of the local organization at the Moose hall last night. Guests from the Rockford, Mt. Morris, Sterling, Sycamore and Rochelle chapters attended and officers of the latter four groups filled the chairs.

War relief chapter night was observed with Mrs. Barbara Kniggi as chairman. Mrs. Vida Holland of Rockford provided the musical portion of the program and Mrs. Sara Fisher of Rockford was the speaker.

Initiation ceremonies were held for members of the Mary Hooper class and talks were given by the senior regent of each of the five visiting chapters. The assistant associate dean of Illinois, Mrs. Marie Stenger, invited the group to come to Mooseheart, Oct. 26, when she will present a piano given by the chapters in Illinois.

At the conclusion of the evening refreshments were served.

Boy, 13, Sets Fire to Chicago Rooming House

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—Police Sergt. George Biedermann said today a 13-year-old boy seized at the scene of a rooming house fire last night, had told him he set the blaze which endangered the lives of 21 elderly women.

Biedermann quoted the boy, Daniel Waisbrot, an elementary school student and son of a printer, as saying he set the blaze in some rubbish under a rear porch after watching firemen battle a fire some distance away.

The policeman said the boy was questioned by police 13 times previously in connection with fires. He said the boy formerly lived in Evansville, Ind.

Ten of the women endangered by the fire, one of them 91 years old, and some of them crippled, were overcome by smoke and rescued with 11 others from the north side building.

Late Corn Needs Two Weeks of Dry Weather

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—Late corn in northern Illinois needs another one to two weeks of good drying weather to be safe from frost, the weather bureau said today. Late southeastern fields need two to three weeks.

Much July planted corn will not come to full maturity unless killing frost holds off until' November, the bureau's weekly crop bulletin said.

A. F. Surratt, federal crop statistician, estimated 70 per cent of the entire crop would be safe from frost at the end of September if normal weather prevails.

Soybeans made fair to excellent progress in the week ended yesterday, the weather bureau said, and need about the same margin of favorable weather as late corn to escape frost damage.

Congress' Leaders

York, telegraphed the chief executive that margin requirements on grain exchanges should be raised and that the manner and timing of governmental food purchases should be studied to minimize their speculative effect on prices.

At the same time, grain prices broke sharply and hog prices and butter and egg futures declined moderately in early trading on Chicago exchanges and Preston Delano, comptroller of the currency, appealed to the bankers to put the brakes on the nation's "severe and dangerous" postwar inflation.

Special Cabinet Session

Truman, meanwhile called a special cabinet meeting for later in the day (2 p. m. CDT) to discuss what was described officially as "the general food situation." The president was reported giving "every consideration" to the problem of the high cost of living.

On the Chicago Board of Trade, wheat fell as much as nine cents a bushel before steadying. After the first hour, wheat was 4½ to 5½ cents lower with December at $2.65. Corn was 2-2¾ lower, December $2.13½, and oats 1⅛ to 1 5/8 lower, December $1.04⅞.

In Chicago, hogs were steady to 25 lower. October egg futures down nearly a cent a dozen to 54-54.40 cents and November butter futures were oft as much as one half cent at 71-71.25 cents a pound.

No Indication Of Plans

Truman, giving no indication that he plans to call a special session of congress on the price situation, says he hopes to reach a decision soon "on the best manner of approach" to the price situation.

The president's views were expressed in a letter to Rep. O'Toole (D-N.Y.) in reply to a letter O'Toole had written Truman while he was in Brazil.

"The danger from high costs is becoming increasingly serious every day," O'Toole said, adding that if Truman "gives the problem the consideration I know he will, a special session is practically inevitable."

Truman, who is to make a statement on world food problems "in a few days," is studying recommendations of his food cabinet committee and was reported considering the possibility of a voluntary food rationing system at home and smaller grain shipments abroad

Senatorial Comment

Also in Washington, Senator Connally (D-Texas), describing the control of soaring prices "a very difficult and troublesome problem," said he was "not prepared to say whether a special session of congress to control prices would be justified."

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt), chairman of the eastern subcommittee of the joint congressional committee investigating high prices, said in New York that the group would ask Truman to take action to curb speculation on commodity exchanges.

At the hearing in New York testimony yesterday stressed charges that speculation in the exchange was in large part responsible for recent increased prices of food.

In the country's commodity markets yesterday, only wheat made substantial gains, continuing its upward trend with closing prices 3 to 4½ cents higher. Prices of corn, oats, sugar, and eggs showed slight declines.

Throughout the country, however, retail prices for meat, milk, bread, butter, eggs and other staples generally remained at about the same levels as last week.

Taft Says Hecklers

by marriage, said after sewing six stitches in Taft's hand that the wound would leave no permanent injury.

Mrs. Taft in Spotlight

The mishap occurred when the Ohio senator ordered the car stopped to take aboard Rep. Homer R. Jones (R-Wash), who voted against the Taft-Hartley bill. Last year Jones defeated former Rep. Hugh De Lacy, Democrat, who led the railroad station hecklers.

Confronted by organized booing, Taft told last night's audience that the "vociferous" demonstrations such as he then was receiving and had been subjected to at the railroad station could only result in helping "the Republicans win the next election".

Mrs. Taft, introduced from the stage, remarked smilingly that the picket line through which she had walked with her husband to enter the hall "booed in a rather half-hearted way". She added that "by the broad way some of them smiled, I'm sure they must be Republicans".

Attacks Truman Policy

Mrs. Taft shared the spotlight with her husband today with a scheduled luncheon speech before Republican Women's club. At the same time, Taft was to speak before a mens' luncheon club

In a manuscript prepared for this address, Taft attacked what he said was the "fantastic theory" of President's Truman's administration that "a general pattern of wage and salary increases could be adopted without increasing prices".

He criticized also what he said was the Democrats' "undue liberality of lending dollars all over the world and the refusal to reduce expenses and taxes".

The chairman of the senate's Republican policy committee said the country now begins to see what Mr. Truman's veto of the tax bill "meant in terms of higher prices".

"The Republican action in passing a tax reduction bill and attempting to reduce expenditures presents a vital difference in philosophy from the president's action in vetoing the two tax bills", he declared. "The inevitable effect of maintaining high taxes is to encourage higher prices".

$600,000 bond issue for a new well and pump and one for $40,000 calling for the construction of a storm sewer for drainage purposes.

The bond issue for the new well and pump carried easily, 215 to 67. Voters favored the storm sewer proposal 195 to 82.

Cost of the new well is expected to be approximately $35,000, but the larger bond issue was voted to provide for possible increases in construction costs Plans call for a new building to house the pump.

The two wells now in use there, more than 35 years old, are described as in poor operating condition.

Oregon experienced a water shortage several weeks ago, and at one time the town was forced to use water from the well of the Carnation plant.

Annual plants are about three-fourths water.

County Sued

completed late yesterday afternoon.

The suit, by the Donoho girl's father, is the outgrowth of an accident which occurred on White Pines road two miles north of the Lowell park entrance when cars driven by Reynolds and Harrison collided.

Reynolds, Miss Donoho and four other Dixon high school students were enroute to White Pines state park for a picnic at the time of the accident, Reynolds testified yesterday.

Riding with Harrison at the time of the accident were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bowers, and their son, Donald Bowers.

Speed Estimated As High

Other witnesses previously had estimated that the Harrison car was traveling between 70 and 75 miles per hour shortly before the cars collided near the crest of a hill.

Bowers, testifying yesterday afternoon, estimated that the car was traveling approximately 60 miles per hour, and said Reynolds' car appeared to be weaving as they approached and that Harrison pulled over to the edge of the road.

Richard Worley, called to the stand during the afternoon by attorneys for Reynolds, said he had heard Bowers say after the accident that Harrison could have avoided the crash. Bowers, recalled to the stand, denied he had made such a statement.

Attorney Robert Besse, Sterling, represented Donono in the case, the law firm of Warner & Warner represented Gerald and Margaret Reynolds and R. L. Bracken represented Harrison

Another Case Called

Immediately after the jury left the courtroom, the work of selecting another jury to hear the damage suit brought by Bos Truck Lines, Inc., Marshalltown, Iowa, against William Doak, Compton, started.

The trucking firm is asking damages of $10,200.12 for the loss of a truck after a collision at the intersection of the Lee Center road and route 30 Aug. 1, 1946.

The truckers, represented by Warner & Warner of Dixon and Ward & Ward, Sterling, contend that Doak, driving a dump truck on the Lee Center road, failed to stop at the route 30 intersection and crashed into a Bos truck, upsetting it and completely wrecking it.

Doak, represented by Bracken and C. J. Ryan, in a counter-claim, denies the charges made by the Bos company, and charges the truck line's driver with negligence and driving on the wrong side of the road.

He asks $13.000 damages for injuries which he charges make it impossible for him to attend to his business and for the damage to his truck.

Vet and Wife Get Yuletide Gift in Advance

Oklahoma City, Sept. 24—(AP)—Navy Veteran Chester Crownover and his young wife were nervous when they told Landlord Marvin Reynolds they expected a little stranger around Yuletide.

Instead of being irritated, Reynolds gave them another Christmas present in advance—he cut their apartment rent from $40 to $30 a month.

Overell Trial Is Nearing Argument

Santa Ana, Calif., Sept. 24—(AP)—Medical witnesses were summoned today by Louise Overell and George Gollum as they opened their sur-rebuttal to the state's accusation that they killed her parents and then dynamited the Overell yacht.

Prosecutor Eugene Williams rested the state's rebuttal late yesterday. The defense lawyers said they planned to use three or four witnesses and should conclude their testimony by late today.

Chief contention of the defense will be that the people's witnesses erred in estimating that financier Walter E. Overell was no more than 12 inches away from the cache of dynamite that ripped two gapping holes in the hull of his cruiser, the Mary E., last March 15.

Final arguments are expected to start Monday. Williams estimates it will take him about a day to sum up the case. Two days will be required for defense arguments.

The state contends that Louise, 18-year-old sole heir to her parents' half million dollar estate, conspired with Gollum her 21-year-old sweetheart, to kill her parents and get control of their money.

It is also an ideal time for landscaping so why not landscape with a beautiful planting of evergreens. We will be glad to help you select the particular types suitable for your home, keeping in mind the particular place it is to occupy.

In the planting we strive at all times to make each planting an individual one and not just another planting. So why not call us for whatever your landscape needs might be.

AMERICA'S Choice!
Launderall

BARBARA JO WALKER OF MEMPHIS
Miss America 1947
Miss America Pageant Scholarship Foundation is co-sponsored by the manufacturers of Launderall
by Jantzen
No other WASHER HAS ALL THESE FEATURES
★ RE-VERSO-ROL More thorough washing and rinsing
★ TOP-FIL-DOR No bending or stooping—it's waist high
★ SAFTI-LATCH Protects careless fingers and hands
★ ROTO-DRIER Damp dries—dryness—ready for the line
★ LARGER CAPACITY 10 full pounds—dry weight
★ PRE-SOAKING ELIMINATED
Just as Miss Walker won the coveted title of Miss America because of her outstanding beauty and talents, so Launderall has won the hearts of America's housewives for its outstanding performance.
Recent tests prove Launderall washes more clothes cleaner, more economically than two other leading automatics. That's why more Launderalls were sold the first year than any automatic in its first two years.

DUKE GRIDDERS IDLE FRIDAY NIGHT

Coach George E. Lewis of the Mendota Trojans poses with his star break-away runner, slippery Lamar Brewbaker. Brewbaker, who ran for 138 points last year, scored three times against Morris in his first 1947 start but was held to one TD and thrown for many losses by Amboy last Friday.

Wagner and Rumley Ace Aurora Drivers

Chicago, Sept. 24—(Special)—At the close of the third week of racing at Aurora Downs six Illinois drivers, two from the Dixon area, are among the first 10 in quest of high point honors among competing reinsmen.

In ninth place is Ellis Wagner of Amboy, who has won two races, finished second five times and third three times out of 26 mounts. On a point basis adopted at the Downs awarding five points for each win, three for a second and two for a third, he has earned an aggregate of 28 points.

The veteran C. F. Rumley of Princeton is deadlocked with Jerry Baier of Elgin for second place behind the young Mt. Vernon navy vet, Dee Stover. Both the dapper Baier and 70-year-old Rumley have identical records in the win, place and show standings.

Nine Wins for Rumley

In 15 starts by Baier he has racked up nine wins, four place spots and one third for a total of 58 points. Rumley on the other hand has had more starts, 33 to be exact, but has by coincidence the same figure in the point earning column.

That famous female driving team of Mrs. Forrest Burright and her daughter Joyce from Oregon, has not broken into the "first ten" category as yet but only due to the fact that they have not been at Aurora long enough to warrant sufficient starts to get up among the leaders.

Guy Crippen of West Allis, Wis., who handles horses owned by State's Attorney S. Don Crowell of Oregon, is leading all Wisconsin drivers.

—NEA Telephoto

Medalist honors are won by Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., in the Women's National amateur meet at Franklin Hills, Mich., Golf club. Miss Suggs was the only player in a field of 84 to break 80. She chalked up a beautiful 78.

Mt. Morris Drills for Friday Game

(Telegraph Special Service)

Mt. Morris, Sept. 24—Coach John R. Worley is drilling his Mt. Morris Mounder football charges strenuously this week in preparation for Friday night's home opener with the East Rockford junior varsity.

Mt. Morris bowed to Hononegah at Rockton, 27-7, last Friday, although they turned in a fine second half effort. East Rockford's fledgling varsity battled Oregon to a 0-0 tie at Oregon.

The Rabs employ a T formation featuring quick opening plays but lacked scoring punch against the Hawks.

The game should throw two teams of equal strength together and provide plenty of excitement for Mounder followers.

Yank Hurlers Show World Series Form

(By The Associated Press)

New York Yankee pitching, inconsistent since mid-July, is looking better with every passing day. Instead of a crippled, sore-armed staff, Manager Bucky Harris now has four starters bidding for the coveted opening World Series job with their best performances of the season.

Bucky seems to have solved the age-old problem of keeping the boys interested in the intervening days between pennant clinching and the series opening.

He has most of the staff outdoing one another in a wholesome rivalry for that No. 1 job against the Brooklyn Dodgers. Allie Reynolds, Frank Shea, Bobo Newsom and Bill Bevens are in the running with Spud Chandler beginning to show signs of life.

Reynolds and Shea yesterday tossed the Yanks to a doubleheader win over Washington 2-0 and 3-1. Reynolds, working eight innings, blanked the Senators with six hits, before yielding to a pinch hitter. Shea gave only two hits, although he walked seven, in his eight-inning chore. Reynolds' shutout was his 19th success and Shea picked up win No. 14.

In each case, Lefty Joe Page stalked from the bull pen to tune up his soupbone with a one-inning stint. Unless it's a case of reaching the peak a week ahead of time, the Yanks are ready.

Page, incidentally, equalled a long standing Yankee record set by Jack Chesbro in 1904 when he appeared in his 55th game in the nightcap.

Chandler has not pitched in a league game since Sept. 1 when he threw to only three batters on relief in Boston. Bone chips in his arm may keep him out of this series. However, Chandler has been throwing harder in recent days and might surprise all.

Brooks Lick Giants

Brooklyn also started work with the series in mind, instead of worrying about the Cardinals who finally have been eliminated mathematically. Joe Hatten was given a five-inning outing against New York to gain credit for his 17th victory, 6-1. Dan Bankhead tossed the last four innings after Hatten went out for a pinch hitter and most of the reserves were thrown into action.

Even Jackie Robinson, who was presented with a new car, television set, $500 watch and other gifts in Robinson day ceremonies, yielded to Ed Stevens midway in the game.

St. Louis, a bit concerned about Boston's challenge for second money, disposed of Pittsburgh, 8-4 despite Ralph Kiner's 51st homer. As a result, the Cards now are two full games ahead of the Braves. Kiner's blow put him ahead of New York's Johnny Mize.

Cubs Win, 7-2

Chicago trounced Cincinnati, 7-2, in the other scheduled National league action, pounding Johnny Vander Meer and two successors for 17 hits. All Cub runs came in the fourth inning.

The American league second-place squabble warmed with Detroit shoving a half game ahead of Boston by a 4-1 triumph over Chicago while the Red Sox split two with Philadelphia. Hal Newhouser hooked his 16th win despite 10 White Sox hits and the Red Sox came back to win 6-5 for Earl Johnson after bowing to the A's Phil Marchildon in the opener, 9-3. It was the 18th win for Marchildon.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland's hottest pitcher of the moment, hoisted the Tribe to within a game and a half of the second place Tigers by a 7-4 night win over St. Louis before only 747 fans, a new low for a night game this year.

BREWERS TAKE 3-2 EDGE OVER LOUISVILLE OUTFIT

Milwaukee, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers held a 3-2 margin over Louisville in best of seven game final American Association playoffs today after the Brewers nicked the Colonels, 3 to 2, in a tight 10-inning contest last night.

Ray Fletcher, a rookie outfielder, slammed a double off the right field fence, after Carden Gillenwater and Damon Phillips had walked with two out, to give Milwaukee its triumph.

Jim Wallace, who relieved Al Epperly in the tenth, was the winning pitcher, while Earl Toolson, who replaced Al Widmar in the ninth, was tagged with the loss.

Schools, Library, Girl Scouts Here Note Dog Week

Robert S. Rhodes, local chairman of National Dog Week, announced today that public schools, the public library and Girl Scouts are participating in observances of the period here.

National Dog Week has as its purpose not only betterment of the dog but discouragement of the attitude that dogs are pests or a menace to public welfare. It also endorses law enforcement, properly protection against strays, license laws and enforcement for the protection of dog owners.

The organizations recognize that stray, uncared for dogs, are a public nuisance and encourages municipalities to enact strict ordinances against strays.

Local kennel owners and other individuals who have dogs are also cooperating with National Dog Week, which continues through Saturday.

Detweiler Gets Country Club's Champion Award

The Country club staged its final men's supper match and resulting dinner last night with 25 attending.

Presentation of the club's championship trophy was made to Ken Detweiler while the Class B trophy went to Bill Mooney, and the Class C trophy to Jerry Swendsen. Bob Cottle was club handicap champ.

Next year's sport chairman will be Dale Senneff, who succeeds Floyd Smith.

BRIGHTER NUMBERS

Brooklyn — (AP) — The Brooklyn football Dodgers of the All-American Conference are experimenting with new football numbers which reportedly reflect more light than they receive. The Dodgers claim that the new dyes used in the numbers make the colors twice as bright on ordinary days and ten times as bright on dark or dull days.

OHIO STATE SPLASH

Columbus—(NEA)—Ohio State captured 19 places on the 1947 All-America swimming team.

Battle With Morrison Set Up a Week

Dixon high school's scheduled game with Morrison here Friday night has been postponed until Friday, Oct. 3, Principal B. J. Frazer announces.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for officials. The threesome obtained is composed of Art Bouxsein from Princeton, Bill Powers of Mt. Morris and Joe Gustitus of Rockford.

Morrison will tangle with Rochelle's Hubs this Friday on their home gridiron. The Mustangs booked both games for the same date inadvertently and since Dixon has an open break in the schedule a week from Friday the game is shifted to that date.

Coach Marvin "Dutch" Winger sent the squad through a workout that was capped by a scrimmage after school yesterday. Drills will continue with a heavy contact session set for the latter part of this week.

Mississippi Duck Rules Announced

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24—(AP)—Illinois and Iowa have made a reciprocal agreement on regulations covering duck hunting this fall on the Mississippi river, Livingston E. Osborne, Illinois conservation director, said today.

Osborne said the agreement was necessary because of a difference in migratory waterfowl hunting seasons in the two states. The Iowa season opens and closes earlier than Illinois.

The agreement provides:

From Oct. 21 to Nov. 3, only hunters with valid Iowa licenses may hunt that part of the Mississippi under jurisdiction of Iowa and may not hunt from the Illinois side of the river.

From Nov. 4 to Nov. 19, hunters with licenses from either state may hunt anywhere on the Mississippi between the two states. They may not hunt beyond the river banks of the state in which they are not licensed.

From Nov. 20 to Dec. 3, only hunters holding valid Illinois licenses may hunt on the section of the Mississippi forming the Illinois-Iowa border and their hunting must be confined to the waters under Illinois jurisdiction.

$100,000 Gallop Matching Armed, Assault on Again

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—Their $100,000 off-again-on-again match race apparently here to stay, Armed and Assault each was scheduled today to have one more workout before they go to the post at Belmont park Saturday.

Trainer Max Hirsch, who after seeing Assault go through a spirited jog yesterday morning changed his mind and decided to run the King ranch Comet, said an extensive workout was slated for Thursday.

With Ben and Jimmy Jones apparently satisfied that Calumet's Armed is close to peak condition, a five-eighth's of a mile speed test was cheduled for the Golden Gelding on Friday. The distance of the Special is a mile and a quarter.

With Hirsch's apparent reluctance for the race, the betting odds moved even further in Armed's favor and the guess was that at post time it would be Armed at 3 to 5, with Assault just a little better than even money.

Welter King Maps 2 Title Defenses

New York, Sept. 24—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson will make two defenses of his welterweight boxing title within a month of each other at places more than 6,000 miles apart.

The Harlem stringbean signed last night to meet Frankie Fernandez in a 15-round match at Honolulu Nov. 17 and he is expected to sign a contract tomorrow for another title go Dec. 19 against Cecil Hudson of Milwaukee at Madison Square Garden here.

Barney Peller, Honolulu promoter, who announced the Robinson-Fernandez match, said Robinson was guaranteed $20,000 with the privilege of 40 per cent of the receipts, whichever is greater. The gate for the fight in Honolulu stadium is expected to be between $80,000 and $100,000.

Meyer Settles Out of Court in Suit

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—Two lawsuits for damages resulting from an alleged brawl in which Cub Pitcher Russ Meyer said he suffered a bitten nose by a waitress were disposed of in court yesterday.

Sol R. Friedman, attorney for the waitress, Miss Kay Gidd, 26, said her $50,000 suit against Meyer had been settled but he did not disclose the terms. At the same time, the pitcher's $10,000 suit against the waitress was dismissed by the court.

In her suit, Miss Gidd said the 23-year-old baseball player struck up a conversation with her in a hotel bar, then pulled her hair and caused her arrest when she refused to go out with him.

Meyer charged in his suit that the waitress for no reason bit his nose.

A disorderly conduct charge, brought on complaint of the hotel detective, is scheduled to be heard Sept. 29.

HOME RUN DERBY

(By The Associated Press)

Name—	Homer	Games
Ralph Kiner	51	150
Johnny Mize	50	145
Hank Wilson	51	147
Babe Ruth	51	151

Kiner is three games behind Wilson and 11 games behind Ruth. Mize is three games behind Wilson and 10 behind Ruth as Wilson hit his 50th in his 145th game and Ruth collected his 50th in game No. 134. Mize has six to play and Kiner has four. Wilson hit his 51st in his 147th game, Sept. 17, 1930, when he set the National League record of 56; Ruth hit his 52nd in his 134th game, Sept. 15, 1927 when he set the major league record of 60.

By BOB FALLSTROM

Oregon's grid hopes this fall are pinned to three backs performing ball-carrying chores for the first time.

"My defense is all right," Coach Reino Nori points out. "We'll hold our own with anybody as far as line play goes.

"But my backs are inexperienced. Tony Hollowell, Jim Bassler, and Milo Magaw were linemen a year ago. Now they're struggling to learn the secrets of backfield play."

Oregon's scarlet clad outfit fought East Rockford's junior varsity to a scoreless draw last Friday in its inaugural, demonstrating a powerful defense but something less than a potent scoring kick.

This Friday they take on Hononegah of Rockton, a ball club that trimmed Mt. Morris, 27-7, last week.

Nori, the former pro gridder, is enthusiastic over the play of Guard Jack Walters, a blond 225-pound giant. "I've had officials like Milt Vaughn of Rockford and others tell me Walters is one of the best they've ever watched," Reino says.

Running with Walters is another equally tough hombre—Fred Stenzel. Stenzel is handicapped because he has only one good arm (his right paw is off at the forearm) but he plays a whale of a game.

Against East Rockford, Stenzel went the entire route and turned in a smashing performance.

Nori rightly believes he has a crackerjack pair of guards in the Walters-Stenzel duo.

And the remainder of the forward wall also shapes up as powerful. "Now if I can only develop some speed in the backfield . . .", he muses.

Since Dixon is without a game this week due to a Morrison schedule mixup it might be well for fans desiring to watch a real scrap to hie themselves off to the Mustang lair.

Morrison and the Rochelle Hubs, a couple of ex-Rock River Valley conference antagonists, pitch into each other there and the noise may be heard a considerable distance.

These two outfits annually scrapped for the RRVC diadem before the loop split asunder last winter. While both were seeking conference tieups, as an apparently well founded rumor goes, they suddenly became buddies, deciding it would have to be double or nothing . . . either both schools entered the same circuit or both remained on the outside.

Morrison received the first bid to the North Central Illinois wheel. Failing to receive a response from the Whiteside county boys, loop moguls loosed the bid in Rochelle's direction.

You know the rest. Rochelle accepted with alacrity. Now the question is: How much enmity did this act draw? We'll find out Friday!

Freeport area fans, approximately 200 strong, will attend the California-Wisconsin struggle at Madison Oct. 11. A special IC train is to be operated between the two cities and choice seats within the 40-yard lines provided.

Boyle Writes Sad Story of Finding, Losing Apartment

Fate Is Cruel to Veteran Standing on Doorstep of Dream House

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—This is a true story of a young man who found and lost a dream apartment.

Ever since he returned from overseas, he had walked the dreary treadmill of the national housing shortage. He lit in more places than he had with the paratroops. His only address was portable—his suitcase.

He haunted so many real estate offices that in one he was bawled out for coming in after 10 o'clock. They had seen him around so often they thought he was an employe.

Some weeks ago a friend tipped him off on how he could get into one of the fancy new cave dwelling units up in Manhattan. It had 20 applications for every apartment, but after days of negotiating, pleading and threatening to commit hari-kari on the doorstep, it looked like he was set.

Question of Wife

"Of course, you're married?" asked the apartment house manager, pointing out that only families were acceptable as tenants. Dogs, old maids and bachelors were barred.

"Uh-h-h-h," said the young man thinking fast. "I'm engaged, but my fiancee and I can't get married until we have a place to move into."

"Of course," purred the manager ominously, "in that case, we will have to check into the situation."

The young man, who until then had regarded matrimony as an affliction slightly less desirable than smallpox, gave the manager the name and address of his current girl friend.

Emergency Proposal

He then rushed to a phone, made a luncheon date with her and proposed—somewhere between the vichy soisse and pie a la mode.

"Looky, you gotta marry me, he said. "I have to get that apartment."

She looked in his eyes and saw therein not love, but a desperate longing for his own easy chair and a place to park his razor. So, as women will, she let him have the hammer right on the forehead.

"Bill," she said, naming his rival, "asked me yesterday to marry him. And, furthermore, I am going to."

The young man took that blow more philosophically than she liked.

Eventual Agreement

"But you owe me something, he said. "You've got to help me. You've got to pose as my fiance—at least until I get into that apartment. Then I can tell the manager later you jilted me, and I won't get thrown out."

Indignant at first, she finally agreed to play her part in the ruse. The apartment manager's sleuth came around, corroborated the "engagement," and finally the young man received notice to show up with his fiance by a certain date if he wanted his apartment.

He called the girl was was unable to reach her. He was frantic when he finally located her—just an hour before the lease-signing deadline.

Last Minute Failure

"We have to hurry down to sign up," he told her. "It's no go unless you're along."

"I can't go through with it," she said.

Dumfounded, the young man stormed, threatened and then got down on his verbal knees before the rock wall of her resistance. To no avail.

"You see," she told him happily, "Bill heard so much about that building he finally went down and applied for an apartment for us. I can't do anything now that would hurt our own chance to get in."

Barrett Asks More Stringent Firearms Laws to Stop Crime

Attorney General Talks To Chiefs of Police in Duluth

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 24 — (Special) — George F. Barrett, attorney general of Illinois has urged the International Association of Chiefs of Police to unite in sponsoring more uniform and more stringent laws regulating possession of firearms as a major step in the development of a crime prevention program.

Speaking of the 54th annual conference of the I.A.C.P. here yesterday, Barrett told the chiefs that in addition to working for improved legislation to control criminal activity and to promote public safety, the major goal of the association should be the "instruction, traning and development of the professional policeman as a preventer of crime."

In making his suggestion with respect to control of firearms, Barrett said that "in terms of legislation — state, national, and, indeed international — we stand in great need of much more stringent regulations . . . with a widespread and relatively uniform system of registration, identification and even licensing if need be, of firearms, the machinery will be available for more thorough cooperation among all police departments in the apprehension of criminals who have used such weapons in the commission of crimes."

The Attorney General's specific suggestions with respect to needed legislation also included the tightening of regulations governing automobile drivers' licenses, and the development of statutes providing for treatment and control of sexual psycopaths.

"You are the leaders of a profession which above all others is dedicated to the safekeeping of the public," Barrett told the chiefs. "The force of your combined opinion can and should be a powerful voice to move legislators, general assemblies, congresses and parliaments."

Comparing enlightened crime prevention work to the science of preventive medicine, the Illinois Attorney General stressed the values to a community of keeping young persons out of criminal activity.

"Even in terms of dollars the values are incalculable," he said. "It costs the taxpayers of Illinois $2,500 to house the average felon during his term of confinement in a penal institution, and that figure does not count the cost of apprehending the felon, nor the cost of convicting him. How much cheaper, it would be, whatever it might cost, to prevent the individual from ever becoming a criminal."

Barrett decried what he described as a steady lessening of home and parental discipline and pointed out that "the burden of training for citizenship is falling in increasing measure upon public agences outside the home".

He urged the police chiefs to lead their departments in full cooperation with other civic units in developing programs of activities designed to keep your people away from temptations to crime and opportunities for criminal activity.

Record Drought Hits Germany's Economy

Berlin Sept. 23—(AP)—Germany's worst drought in 100 years has crippled economy in the American zone, says Gen. Lucius D. Clay, cutting hydro-electric output by 22 per cent, slashing crop prospects by 20 to 40 per cent and reducing inland water transport to half its scheduled tonnage.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice of Proposed Changes in Schedules of Regular Rates and Municipal Rates, Sections I and III.

The Illinois Northern Utilities Company hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission on September 15 1947 proposed cancellations of Rate E and Riders No 10 and 18 proposed establishments of Rates D. D-1. I, J and K and Rider No 22: and proposed revisions of Rates C and MP and Riders No 11, 16 and 17, all pertaining to electric service in Section I. Regular Rates, and Section III, Municipal Rates

Cancellations of Rates E and Rider No. 10 are proposed because no customers are being served thereunder. Rider No 18 is no longer effective and is therefore proposed to be cancelled.

Rates D and D-1 are established for "Large Light and Power Service—Monthly Demand" and "Large Light and Power Service—Annual Demand", respectively. The two rates represent the separation into two parts of present Rate D and incorporate such standard rate features as a "Fuel Clause', "Term of Contract" and "Substitution of Contract" Rate I is a new rate for "Ice-Making Service' Rates J and K are new rates for "Industrial Electric Service—Monthly Demand" and "Industrial Electric Service—Annual Demand', respectively. Rider No 22 makes applicable to Rate MA the adjustment of demand's provision contained in Rates J and K.

Rate C. 'Industrial Electric Service—Off Peak, is revised principally to incorporate a more liberal term of contract and the new provisions for adjustment of demands. Rate MP is revised to incorporate a provision for adjustment of demands. Revision of Rider 11 is proposed to confine the availability of the rider to existing customers Rider No. 16 is proposed to be extended to Rates C. J and K. and Rider No. 17 is proposed to be extended to Rates J and K.

A copy of the proposed changes may be inspected by any interested party at any business office of this Company.

All parties interested in this matter may obtain information with respect thereto either directly from this Company or by addressing the Secretary of the Illinois Commerce Commission at Springfield, Illinois

Legion Auxiliary in Membership Drive

Enrollment of one million women to serve during the coming year for the welfare of war veterans and the security of the nation is being started by the American Legion auxiliary this month, Mrs Dale Flynn, president of the Dixon unit, has announced.

Present membership of the auxiliary is approximately 920,000, a gain of 120,000 over the enrollment of a year ago. Similar gain during the coming year would place the auxiliary's strength well beyond the only million mark, Mrs. Flynn pointed out.

Enrollment of the membership of the Dixon unit for 1948 is being directed by Mrs. Viola Risley, chairman of the unit's membership committee Re-enrollment of present members for 1948 and enlistment of new members from among the eligible women of the city will be carried out in the systematic campaign

Eligible for membership are wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of American Legion members and of persons who lost their lives in either World war or who have died since honorable discharge from war service. Women who served in the armed forces in either war also are eligible

Red Propaganda Muffled in Pole's Religious Center

(Daniel De Luce, touring the Soviet sphere for the AP, sends the following dispatch from Czestochowa, city of Polish Catholicism.)

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Czestochowa, Poland— (AP)— The only red stars in Czestochowa, shrine of Polish Catholicism, are on Soviet soldiers' graves.

This is a city in the Russian sphere of Europe where the propaganda of the newly-dominant Communist minority is muffled and the moral authority of the church is unchallenged.

By the tens of thousands, pilgrims march into Czestochowa for Sunday services. Many come in carts drawn by horses or oxen, decked with crosses made of pine boughs. Others trudge afoot, carrying the banners of their faith.

A monument to the Red army stands on the edge of the city, but is almost unnoticed by the endless procession.

Two fundamentals baffle Russophiles who would complete the transformation of Poland from modified state socialism to rigid Sovietization:

One is the love of the peasant for his own land. The other is his deep religious feeling. There are 16,000,000 like him—that is, two-thirds of the Polish people.

The Kremlin apparently has been unable to devise a non-violent short-cut for Polish Communists, who are blocked from fulfillment of their ideology.

The Kremlin, as history records, forced the Russian peasant into collectivization and extinguished nearly all religion for a generation by its decrees.

Either strong-arm policy, if not repugnant to Polish Communists, is at least beyond their power in the present coalition government to attempt.

Harvester Modernizing Plans Are Announced

Chicago, Sept. 24—(AP)—The International Harvester company has announced plans for a $5,000,000 modernization program at the company's West Pullman works on Chicago's southwest side.

John L. McCaffrey, president of the company, said yesterday the program calls for construction of two new manufacturing buildings, and a third new structure to be used for storage. A group of existing buildings will be remodeled for plant offices.

McCaffrey said construction would start this year and would be completed before the end of 1948.
